SATURDAY NIGHT'S STORM DID DAMAGE

WIRES WERE BLOWN DOWN AND COMMUNICATION STOPPED

BAROMETER READING LOW

Indications Are That Another Storm May Come—Many People Had Experiences Saturday Night

Nodaway County was swept from 10 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock Saturday night by the most severe storm that has struck here for several years. The amount of rainfall for Saturday and Saturday night was 1.15 inches, according to J. R. Brink, official weather man of Maryville. Mr. Brink said at noon today that the barometer had been very low Saturday and Sunday and that the indications were for wind and rain. The barometer at the Orear Drug store registered 27.95 Saturday night, the lowest since the instrument was installed.

The storm began with gusts of wind accompanied by rain. Limbs were blown to the streets and in some cases whole trees came down. Telephone and electric light wires were brought down and service was impaired. At various times during the storm the lights were off on the streets and in the business houses about the square. For a time they were off in some of the homes. The light department was prompt, however, in getting forces of men out on the lines and through wind and rain these men worked getting things in shape again. No section of the town was without lights in the residences for very long. Some of the linemen for the light company who had done their regular day's work Saturday, went on when the storm came Saturday night and worked through until yesterday evening, stopping only long enough to take their meals.

The majority of the toll telephone lines running into Maryville to both the switchboards were put out of commission. After the storm the only toll lines of the Hanamo Company that were left in commission were those to Clearmont, Barnard and Bedford. On the People's Telephone Union the following lines were put out of order: Graham, Skidmore, Wilcox, Barnard, Orrsburg, Pickering and Arkoe.

By this morning a number of the lines of each of the companies that had been put out of commission were working again but some of them were still out and linemen were busy going here and there in their work.

No estimate has been given as to the amount of damage done to the telephone lines but C. C. Hellmers, manager of the Maryville Electric Light and Power Company, estimates that the loss to his concern will be in the neighborhood of $200. He says that a considerable portion of this was in loss of revenue while the lights were off.

One of the larger trees that went down in town was one on Buchanan street just opposite the city hall. This tree blocked the street and carried down with it telephone wires on either side. Mayer F. P. Robinson put a force of men to work at daylight yesterday morning and within a few hours the streets were cleared of all trees that had blocked them.

The story is told of a girl who was making her way home along West Seventh Street. A live wire was down and a man was there watching to see that no one got on it. He called to the girl to stop. She evidently thought she was encountering a hold-up man and broke to run directly toward the bare live wire. The man seized her and perhaps saved her life.

One man started home on South Buchanan street. Just after leaving Third street he ran into wires that were down near the sidewalk. Then he came to where the tree was across the street. He thought of live wires and immediately got out of the tangle and retraced his steps to take a new route.

A number of the white globes on the street lights about and near the square were swept off and shivered into thousands of pieces on the pavements. People coming from the shows in the storm huddled about in groups waiting for jitney cars to take them home. One woman's hat was swept from her head and she made no effort to regain it. Three or four umbrellas were turned wrong side out. A few arguments came up as to who called certain jitneys when they arrived.

Some people were shy about walking along the streets lest brick from the tops of buildings should fall upon them or for fear that signs would be wrenched from their places and strike them.

Little damage is reported to property other than that caused to the telephone and electric light companies by the falling of limbs and trees. In some cases valuable trees were damaged.

HAYES DAMAGE CASE ON TRIAL

SUIT FOR $10,000 CAME HERE FROM ATCHISON COUNTY.

The $10,000 damage case of Mrs. Douglas Hayes against Virgil H. Million sent here on change of venue from Atchison County was being tried in circuit court today. The suit is a result of an accident in which an automobile driven by the defendant struck Douglas Hayes, the husband of the plaintiff, inflicting injuries which caused his death. The accident occurred on a public highway about one and one-half miles east of Watson in Atchison county on January 7 about six o'clock in the evening. The plaintiff claims that the car was going at an excessive rate of speed, about thirty miles an hour, the defendant failed to sound a horn or give any signal of its approach, and failed to slow down. The injuries to Hayes consisted of breaking his left leg above the knee and internal injuries which caused his death about two hours after the accident.

The jury hearing the case is composed of W. A. Thornhill, W. G. Black, James Donnelly, Alfred Logan, Edward W. Gray, O. H. Bancroft, S. J. Icke, Gaylord Dilts, J. R. Strader, James Thompson, S. G. Massie, Cabal Childress.

CHILDREN'S WEEK TO BE APRIL 30 TO MAY 7

Churches in the County are Asked to Observe the Week Individually and Alone.

The Nodaway County Sunday School workers will join the continental children's week observance April 30 to May 7. Children's week was inaugurated four years ago and has as its objective the emphasising to all people of the importance of the religious education of children.

The week has a two-fold program:

First—Every church in every community is asked to observe the week, individually and alone, in order that its children may have their needs supplied. The purpose of Children's Week is to bring the church to see the children; many church organizations are set to catch big game. This week will help them see through the eyes of Christ to see the children who are precious in His sight.

Second—Every community is asked to observe the week that public opinion may be aroused in favor of religious education, and the support of men and women of all creeds be enlisted.

DR. CURL SPOKE ON THE COAL STRIKE

GAVE REASONS FOR ITS COMING AND CONTINUANCE

PUBLIC OPINION CONTROLS

Time of Year, Supply and Action of Operators Causes Government To Take No Hand

Dr. O. L. Curl, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, gave last night an interesting address on the coal strike situation.

"The question has often been asked," said Dr. Curl, "as to why the government does not get out an injunction and keep the men on the job as it did a couple of years ago when strikes were proposed. There are four reasons for the government's not doing this:

"First—The war is over and the time for military measures that were necessary during and for the period immediately following the war has passed.

"Two—Judge Anderson issued his injunction at a time when the supply of coal was low and had the production stopped there would have been suffering.

"Three—There is a supply of coal on hands now sufficient to last for two or three months.

"Four—Public interest has changed and the public will no longer allow the government to take measures to force the men to work if they do not want to.

"The public opinion that backed Judge Anderson and made his injunction effective no longer exists. You cannot get far unless the public is with you. You can put all the laws there in the state and the nation in about six volumes but there are rows and rows of books of opinions on these varfous laws. It is the opinions on them that really makes them effective.

If the strike should go until next winter and people sat about their homes without the comfort of a fire, then public opinion would become such that it would be possible for the government to take a hand.

The experiment that is being tried out in Kansas regarding the coal miners can only succeed insofar as it tends to its own business and its own business is that of doing the things that public opinion will back it up in.

The trouble has come up over three things:

"First—The old contracts expired April 1 and the miners wanted them renewed.

"Second—The operators refused to renew these contracts and wanted to make wages lower.

"Third—The operators refused to confer with the representatives that the miners chose and they also insisted on the open shop.

"Labor has the same right to elect representatives to confer for it that capital has. The miners seemed to be willing to take a cut in their wages but they did want to have their representatives talk it over with the operators.

"A few years ago the unions over stepped their rights and public opinion was turned against them. They took measures that were not just and the public backed the government in opposing them. Now the pendulum has swung back over the other way and public opinion is more in favor of the miners.

In conclusion Dr. Curl said:

"Wages must be readjusted and they must be readjusted downward but they must never go down to pre-war levels and consequently bring about pre-war grades of living. The present revival of business is already creating a demand for labor and the law of supply and demand will cause the employers to be willing to pay the miners more than they would during business depression and the miners will be willing also to meet any offer of a fair and living wage."

FORMULATED PLANS FOR CONVENTION JUNE 15

Mrs. Ellis Cook, T. H. Leet and Mrs. L. E. White Appointed on Committee for Arrangements

Township Sunday school officers held a meeting yesterday afternoon and partly formulated plans for the annual district convention to be held June 15. One of the most attractive features in contemplation is a pageant of religious education to be put on by the young people of the various churches.

Mrs. Ellis Cook, T. H. Leet and Mrs. L. E. White were appointed a committee to select and arrange for the event. Whether or not a banquet will be held in connection with the convention will depend upon the response from a canvass to be made in the various churches next Sunday to determine how many would likely attend. The officers are enthusiastic over the prospects of an exceptionally worth while convention. The officers for next year will be elected at this time.

FREE TUBERCULIN TEST IN NODAWAY COUNTY

Dr. H. A. Wilson, State Veterinarian, Jefferson City, Mo., announces that Dr. T. J. Eagle, Veterinary Inspector, Bureau of Animal Industry, will take up the work of testing cattle for tuberculosis in Nodaway county and will remain in the county until all of this work is done. The work will be taken up by neighborhoods. After completing the test in any neighborhood, Dr. Eagle will not be allowed to run back to test for those that are delinquent about making application.

After January 1, 1922, it will be unlawful for any one to sell any butter, milk or cream from a herd containing five cows or over, unless such cows have been tested for tuberculosis. However no one will be liable to prosecution under the compulsory testing law, until the free test has been offered and rejected. A free test is now offered all of those that are in the dairy business. Smaller herds than five will be tested but, in some cases, it may be necessary to ask the owners to bunch these small lots of cattle. Beef cattle will also be included in this test.

Herd owners will be expected to get in touch with Dr. Eagle right away and have their cattle up promptly when the Inspector gets around.

COOPER GAVE REVIEW ON "IF WINTER COMES"

Says It Is the Greatest and Best Novel That Has Been Put On the Market For Several Years

The Rev. Joseph A. Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave a review and criticism last night on the new novel, "If Winter Comes." The services were well attended. Mr. Cooper pronounced the book as being the greatest from the standpoint of purity, good morals and christian principles that has been put on the market for several years.

"In order for books to be great," said Mr. Cooper, "They must be about people. Gene Stratton-Porter has written some splendid books but she dealt with things of nature and not so much with folks, so her work can never be classed as great. Les Miserables, Tale of Two Cities and Adam Bede are great books because they are about people.

"Another prerequisite for a book to be great is that it must be religious."

Mr. Cooper pronounced "If Winter Comes" as being the supreme test of love. He said that the people of the world may not be responsible for their loves but that they are responsible for their actions.

MANY SCHOOLS OFFER AGRICULTURAL STUDIES.

2-YEAR COURSES GIVEN

The Maryville High School Is One of 100 Schools in State to Offer Such Courses.

One thousand nine hundred and forty high school students received instruction in vocational agriculture in Missouri last year. Previous to 1909 practically all efforts to educate the public to new methods of farming were directed towards the adult and this chiefly to the adult male farmer. Since that time there has begun to develop a sentiment that children in the public schools have a right to instruction in agriculture; that they have a right to have farm life, its opportunities, advantages and disadvantages brought to their attention as well as to have city life if presented to them. The idea has been that it is better to grow a farmer than to make one after he is grown.

Minnesota was one of the first states to recognize the value of this and in 1909 made a provision for state aid for teachers of agriculture in high schools. Ten years later there were more than 100 high schools offering courses in agriculture in that state.

In 1917, the federal government provided funds for the teaching of vocational agriculture in states that would match the government aid. Missouri has at the present time, seventy-six teachers of agriculture who are giving instruction in the high schools of the state. Practically all of these schools are offering a two year course, the first year field crops and soils, the second year, animal husbandy, feeds and feeding. The Maryville high school has vocational agriculture, H. G. Tilley being head of that department.

According to J. V. Aukeney, associate professor of agriculture at Columbia, the future of vocational agriculture education in Missouri is a promising one. "The trained teacher," he says, "trained in practical agriculture, trained as to how to impart efficiently and effectively this information to his pupils, a resident of the community where he is known by all, where he must deliver the goods, has the best opportunity not only to develop future citizens of our nation, but to be a community leader and through the boys and girls and his community work to be of genuine service to the adults of the community as well."

Genoa, April 10—The economical conference is opened. Premier Facta of Italy was elected chairman. Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador to Italy, was present as an unofficial observer. Italy is discussing Fiume with Jungo-Slava.

"If the Genoa Economic Conference fails, despair will creep over the entire world," declared Lloyd George this afternoon in the keynote speech, in which he deplored the absence of the United States.

The preliminary moves on the European board, to which the day before the opening of the economic conference was devoted largely, plainly showed all nations, great and small, courting Russia, although they wished to appear not over eager in the courtship.

Therefore, the Russians seemed to hold a position of distinct advantage, all depending on how they manipulated their pawns in their project to be admitted to the council of nations as the Russian state.

The conditions of Russia's entry are the outstanding and dominating subject of the conference.

THE PROFITS OF RETAIL TRADE.

The Harvard bureau of research, an unprejudiced and scientific authority, recently investigated the costs of retail trade, through the accounts of 266 retail stores.

It found that out of every dollar paid by the consumer, the retailer paid 72 cents for the goods. For salaries and wages 13.9 cents were paid. Other expenses, including rents, taxes, interest, advertising, etc., were 12 cents. The merchants made less than two cents out of every dollar.

An investigation like this should undeceive people who think that the average retail merchant is overcharging the public.

Produce Review.

More favorable weather and better road conditions are bringing more eggs to market although receipts are still below what is known as flush production.

Costs of eggs in producing sections have been higher, proportionately, than selling values in consuming centers, indicating that consumers have definite ideas of values at which they are willing to use eggs freely.

There is a decrease in the marketing of live poultry, with an easy tendency in the market for dressed poultry.

Production of butter is showing an increase, with definitely lower values during the past few days.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

Missouri Republicans in Washington have been able to get very little comfort out of the municipal elections in that state last week while the Democrats here have been correspondingly elated. Both agree that at least so far as the Kansas City election was concerned, Governor Hyde and the policies for which he stands was a substantial factor and the Democrats here are gratified that he saw fit to inject himself into that campaign. Republican congressmen make no secret of their chagrin and frankly admit that the governor would have rendered his party better service if he remained in Jefferson City, or gone fishing.

Incidentally, as scrutiny of the returns shows, it was not the Northside Wards which gave the Democrats the victory. But the wards of the small home-owners where men and women both marched to the pools and voted for Cromwell instead of Foster and Hyde that proved the deciding factor.

The report of the comptroller of currency shows there were 14 failures among the state and private banks of Missouri last year and that the combined liabilities of these was $1,044,474.

Dwight F. Davis, formerly of St. Louis and now a member of the War Finance Corporation, entertained the members of the Missouri Society of Washington at his home last Saturday.

A special booth for Missouri authors will be provided at the Silver Biennial Convention of the League of American Pen Women, which will be held here April 25-28. It is anticipated that Missouri will send a strong delegation to this meeting, the state hostesses being Mrs. Selden P. Spencer, Mrs. I. V. McPherson and Mrs. C. A. Newton.

Seventy per cent of Missouri's population of 3,404,021, according to a report from the Bureau of Census, was born in that state, while 24.1 per cent was born in other states and 5.5 in foreign countries. Natives of Missouri, who have migrated to other states number 315,069.

Presidential postmasters nominated for Missouri during the last week were: Arthur Smith, Purdin; Lorenzo T. McKinney, Marceline; Lavinia B. Jones, Pilot Grove; Lena B. Porter, Novelty; Robert E. Ward, Liberty; Elam J. Nienstedt, Blodgett; Charles T. Lease, Forest City; and Mayme E. Prather, Advance.

The federal judgeship for the Western district of Missouri was restored to the bill which passed the Senate last week. This was provided in the House bill but stricken out by the senate judiciary committee.

Loans to farmers and stockmen in Missouri discounted by the War Finance Corporation last week totalled by $38,000. This is considerably less than other states of that section.

A. O. Wharton, formerly of St. Louis, was reappointed last week by President Harding as a member of the Railroad Labor Board.

C. P. Dorsey, editor of the Cameron Sun, has been recommended for postmaster at Cameron.

A substantial reduction in unemployment for cities Missouri is shown by a report issued last week by the Department of Labor. It is believed that increased demand for farm labor will result in a still greater reduction during the next thirty days.

Tree Planting Time

IS HERE; and all the conditions are favorable for setting out young TREES, VINES, etc.

Don't neglect the planting of a good "Family Orchard," or re-setting the vacancies and adding to the productive capacity of your farm, or city home.

Nothing else takes the place of a good home supply of Cherries, Berries, Grapes, Apples, Plums, Peaches and Pears. Why buy these fruits at the grocery stores when they can be so successfully grown here? Prices of fresh fruits will remain high (too high), until a majority of our people grow their own. This is CERTAIN to be done a few years hence; and it is simply GOOD BUSINESS POLICY TO TAKE UP THIS MUCH NEGLECTED BRANCH OF OUR AGRICULTURE, WITHOUT FURTHER DELAY.

MISSOURI WILL REGAIN her "lost position" at the head of the great fruit states—but it will probably take her twenty years to do it.

We are saving our patrons a lot of money on their purchases of fruit and ornamental Nursery stock. We save them the big "commissions," as we have no agents anywhere. No one is authorized to solicit or take orders for us. We deal direct with all our customers. We have a fine assortment of strictly high grade fruit trees, grapes and berries of the best varieties, and what is probably the completest assortment and best line of hardy shrubs, roses, etc., ever offered the people of Maryville and Nodaway County. We will be glad to show you. Call and see our stock at packing grounds, North Main and Lawn Avenue.

A Basket

of choice Tulips, Daffodils or Hyacinths is very appropriate at this season. Suitable baskets for any occasion for both cut flowers and plants. A splendid line of Easter baskets 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 gives some idea of the reasonable prices of our baskets.

SAYS FATHER WIELDED AX

Albert Tremblay Makes Accusation On Regaining Consciousness

Concordia, Kan., April 10—The final link in the chain of evidence pointing to the one guilty of the ax attack upon the Tremblay family Wednesday morning, came Saturday afternoon.

"Father hit me with an ax."

Those were the words of Albert Tremblay, 14, one of the victims, as he regained consciousness for a moment in the hospital at Clyde, Kan. He spoke in French to a nurse at his bedside.

Albert's accusation upholds the belief that L. J. Tremblay, the father, now a suicide from poison, himself wielded the ax that dealt death to his oldest son, Theodore, and severe injuries to four others. Two of the boys, Albert and Cleo, 8, probably will recover.

683 GRADUATES AT STATE UNIVERSITY AT COLUMBIA

Commencement Excreises Set for Apr. 26—73 From Journalism Department.

Columbia, April 10.—With commencement exercises set for April 26, the largest graduating class in the history of the University of Missouri will receive degrees, a twenty per cent increase over any previous year, have filed applications in the various schools and colleges and the total at the close of the date of filing this week reached 683.

Due to the higher standard demanded by the professional schools the number of candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts leads the list with 177 applicants. Most of these will continue their work in the university and take up work in the professional schools. Second on the list are those who will receive degrees in Education, men and women who expect to become teachers. There will be 151 Bachelor of Science degrees in Education. The Master of Arts degree comes third with 79 candidates.

Of special interest in the educational world is the great increase in the number of graduates from the School of Journalism, that school leading all the professional schools, except Education, for the first time since the school was established in 1908. There will be 73 Bachelor of Journalism degrees awarded, 48 being the highest number ever awarded in a previous year.

The College of Agriculture has felt somewhat keenly the low prices paid to farmers for their product in the last year with the result that advanced students have had to defer work and only 62 will be graduated as Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. However, the college has been utilized greatly by vocational students and non-collegiate students specializing in various branches of agriculture but not seeking the scientific degree.

Fifty-three will receive the Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering and four of the Mechanical Engineer degree. Thirty-four new lawyers will step forth with LL. B. after their names and five new Doctors of Philosophy today. The School of Business and Public Administration will face a record year with forty-four graduates in Business Administration and four in Public Administration.

URGES MERGER OF THE RAILROADS

WALKER D. HINES ADVOCATES JUST A FEW RAILWAY SYSTEMS

RATE CUTS FORECAST

Hines Says by Consolidation All Lines Could Be Made to Show a Profit

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, April 10—Consolidation of the nation's whole network of rail lines into a few systems is the untimate solution of the railroad problem, according to Walker D. Hines, former director-general of railroads.

Hines, in an exclusive interview, declared that this consolidation should come voluntarily on the part of the railroads, but that "eventually it will probably have to be compulsory."

He also strongly advocated the consoldiation of terminals and the common ownership of freight cars as means of immediate relief for the roads. He urged these steps for the purpose of slashing operating costs which, he said, must be reduced at once in order to permit "rate reductions."

The former director indicated that the drastic reduction of expenses would enable the roads to be run at a profit during 1922 even with cuts in passenger and freight rates. On wages the director declined to express an opinion.

"The railroad situation is more difficult to appraise to-day than ever before in history," he said. "The roads had no opportunity prior to Federal control to make vast profits out of the war and no opportunity to build up their reserves during Federal control. Consequently they entered the period of readjustment quite unprepared. It will be a long road to recovery."

Must Have More Traffic

Hines declared that a fundamental condition of railroad prosperity was adequate traffic, which was not only missing at the present time, but did not appear imminent.

"Throughout the whole of last year the freight traffic on all roads was from 100,000 to 150,000 carloads less per week than in corresponding periods of the preceding year. The average decrease was from 12 to 14 per cent," he added.

"Toward the close of the year freight traffic dropped so low as to be less than the traffic handled during the great rail strike of 1919 or even during the post-armistice period of 1918. All indications point to a slow recovery, if any, during the coming year. It is reasonable to believe that there will be no return to prosperity until the volume of traffic is increased. The imperative need at present is to practice economy."

Rate Cuts Forecast

Hines declared that "great concern" must be felt by the roads toward slashing operating costs because of the "strong pressure" brought to bear for a reduction in rates. He indicated that the rate reductions would come this year, but did not specify the period.

"The heavy increase in labor cost," he added, "is particularly burdensome in the maintenance work and terminal part of the transportation work. It seems to me that more progress should be made in these branches for the adoption of labor-saving methods."

The former director expressed a doubt whether a "maximum output" was being obtained in these two branches for the expenditure made.

"I believe that the present railroad situation demands, in view of the increased cost of labor, a concentration of attention upon terminal and maintenance work with an especial view to increasing output and improving results," he added.

"More Economy Necessary"

"It is of supreme importance that new methods be devised and that more economy be obtained in the necessary maintenance and terminal work, now costing approximately 65 per cent of the total operating expenses."

Hines expressed a belief that the public desired greater economies through unification of facilities.

"The public soon will realize that it can save an important part of the heavy cost of railroad operation by forcing further unification," he added.

"The transportation act provides one plan for voluntary consolidation of railroad properties under the interstate Commerce Commission. I believe this is the first step, but I believe eventually there probably will have to be a compulsory consolidation into a few large systems.

"Meanwhile I believe that the terminals ought to be more fully consolidated and a plan speedily developed for common ownership of freight cars.

"Ways must be found to reduce the heavy operating costs so as to reduce rates and still leave the railroads with adequate returns. These economies, I fully believe, will result eventually in a conclusion of all roads into a few large systems."
